Reporting questionnaire

Gender equality indicator 1: Gender composition of workforce

This indicator seeks information about the gender composition of relevant employers in a standardised format, to enable the aggregation of data across and within industries. The aggregated data in your workplace profile assists relevant employers in understanding the characteristics of their workforce, including in relation to occupational segregation, the position of women and men in management within their industry or sector, and patterns of potentially insecure employment.

4.01 You may provide details below on the type of gender remuneration gap analysis that has been undertaken (for example like-for-like and/or organisation-wide).

An organisation-wide and like-for-like gap was conducted for the disclosure in ANZ's ESG Supplement. We calculate, measure and report on our gender pay gap, using the following two-pronged approach to enable us to better understand and explain the root causes of our gender pay gap.

1. the 'category average' methodology, which calculates average salary gaps between women and men by category, and can uncover issues such as women's access to senior and high-paying roles in an organisation; and
2. the 'like-for-like' methodology, which compares the pay of women and men in the same or similar roles, and can highlight bias in pay decisions

Like-for-like analysis is also conducted as part of the annual performance and remuneration review process. This involves looking at the average positioning of females versus males in the same salary range. Analysis is also completed on variable remuneration outcomes by gender.

4.1 Did you take any actions as a result of your gender remuneration gap analysis?

- Yes – indicate what actions were taken (select all applicable answers)

      - continued to exclude the clause in rem outcome letters asking staff to keep outcomes confidential.
      - Targeted individual communications to line managers of staff on, or recently returned from, extended Leave Without Pay (LWOP), including parental leave, reminding managers that staff were eligible to be considered for a salary review.
      - Applied a gender lens throughout the redesign of the way we financially reward our people across the Group, ensuring the redesign did not increase our gender pay gap and seeking to remove any systemic gender bias
- No (you may specify why no actions were taken resulting from your remuneration gap analysis)
  - No unexplainable or unjustifiable gaps identified

Gender equality indicator 4: Flexible working and support for employees with family and caring responsibilities

This indicator will enable the collection and use of information from relevant employers about the availability and utility of employment terms, conditions and practices relating to flexible working arrangements for employees and to working arrangements supporting employees with family or caring responsibilities. One aim of this indicator is to improve the capacity of women and men to combine paid work and family or caring responsibilities through such arrangements. The achievement of this goal is fundamental to gender equality and to maximising Australia's skilled workforce.
