ANZ appoints Danny Suwanapruti as Global Head of Rates Research

ANZ today announced the appointment of Danny Suwanapruti as Global Head of Rates Research, reporting to Global Head of Financial Markets Research Richard Yetsenga.

Based in Singapore, he will lead a global team of strategists that provide high quality analysis, trade ideas, strategy, forecasts and strategic insights on fixed income and associated interest rate markets.

Mr Suwanapruti joins from Standard Chartered in Singapore where he spent the last nine years as a Senior Rates Strategist and brings extensive Asian rates and international banking experience.

ANZ Chief Economist Warren Hogan said: "It's pleasing to be able to appoint one of Asia's top interest rate strategists to lead our global team out of Singapore and I'm confident Danny will be highly valued by our clients. A key strategic focus for ANZ is the build out of our Asian rates business. Danny will be instrumental in delivering that capability to our global customer base."

Mr Suwanapruti will join ANZ in January 2015.
