ANZ wins Canstar Small Business Bank of the Year and two Outstanding Value credit card awards

ANZ has been recognised by Canstar, winning the Small Business Bank of the Year award for the fifth consecutive year and securing two Outstanding Value awards for its business credit card offerings.

The Small Business Bank of the Year award marks ANZ's eleventh win overall, an industry-leading achievement. ANZ also received Canstar's 2026 Outstanding Value – Frequent Flyer Business Credit Cards and Outstanding Value – Rewards Business Credit Cards awards for the ANZ Qantas Business Rewards Card and ANZ Business Black Card, recognising the value, features and benefits delivered to business customers.

The awards recognise ANZ's strength across a broad range of business banking solutions, including lending products, merchant services, digital and online banking, specialist support, business education, disaster relief programs and credit card offerings designed to support the evolving needs of Australian businesses.

ANZ Group Executive, Business & Private Bank, Tammy Medard, said the awards underscore ANZ's commitment to delivering value and support to small business customers.

"These awards don't only recognise the strength of our products and small business proposition, but the commitment of our people who are focused every day on helping customers at each stage of their business journey. We're proud to have earned the trust of small business owners and are grateful for this recognition from Canstar.

"Australian small businesses are the heart of our economy and they need a banking partner that understands their ambitions and the challenges they face. That's why we're continuing to invest in digital tools, specialist expertise and flexible lending solutions that make banking simpler and more seamless, so customers can spend more time running and growing their business."

The Canstar Small Business Bank of the Year Awards assessed nine major financial institutions, including 22 business credit cards, 27 deposit accounts and 42 business loan products. ANZ was recognised for its consistent delivery of value, customer support and overall customer satisfaction.
